

For Parents

This week your child has been exploring stories of what might be called parental love 'in dark times', i.e. through the dark harshness of winter. Children have been reflecting on how parents show their love by taking care of their children, keeping them warm, feeding them and providing a warm bed for them each night of the winter. You might like to reflect/pray from the perspective of your faith or belief tradition on love in our lives.