

Read the words and numbers.
Draw in the right number of things.

For Parents

This week your child has been celebrating being a learner-in-school. We learn outside of school too, life itself teaches us. But the focus in this lesson has been on learning to count, to read, to write to make things with our hands, to be quiet and still and so on. You might like to pray/reflect with your child on how good it is to be a learner and on how we are all learners throughout our whole life.