

For Parents

This week your child has been exploring story. Story is very important in all cultures, belief systems and religious faiths. It is also very important in the life and development of the young child. You might like to pray/reflect with your child on a story that is particularly important to you in your life.