

This week your child has been celebrating his or her uniqueness as a human being. You might like to continue the work of the lesson by praying/reflecting with your child on how special he or she is.