

For Parents

This week your child has been exploring home as a shared space, as a place for all the family where we have to make room, in a sense, for each other to be who we are. You might like to pray/reflect with your child from the perspective of your faith tradition or belief tradition, on our responsibility towards each other.